

A ZINE FOR RANT

And don't even get me started on how invasive AI has gotten. Everywhere you turn, there's a "smart assistant" popping up asking if you need help. No, I don't need help writing "Following up on our previous conversation..." I am trying to sound like a real person, not a robot. It's like we are being trained to write and talk like machines instead of being our messy, human selves.

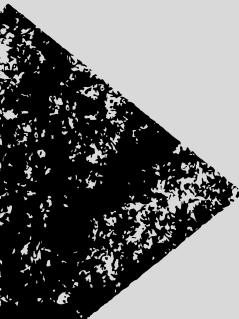

TRUST ? AND WHEN IT COMES TO THE PEOPLE
BUILDING AI? YEAH, I DON'T FULLY TRUST THEM.
SOME MEAN WELL, BUT A LOT OF THEM ARE JUST RACING TO BE FIRST, TO MAKE MONEY, TO WIN.
AND HONESTLY, IT FEELS LIKE NO ONE IS ASKING THE REALLY IMPORTANT QUESTIONS, LIKE: "IS THIS EVEN GOOD FOR US LONG TERM?" IT'S GIVING MAJOR "WE INVENTED SOCIAL MEDIA AND DIDN'T THINK ABOUT THE CONSEQUENCES" VIBES.

AND HERE'S SOMETHING THAT REALLY MAKES ME THINK: WHY IS AI BANNED IN SOME WRITING
CLASSES, BUT COMPLETELY FINE IN MEDICINE?
DOCTORS CAN USE AI TO HELP DIAGNOSE CANCER,
BUT STUDENTS CAN'T USE IT TO BRAINSTORM A PAPER? IF WE TRUST AI TO SAVE LIVES, WHY CAN'T WE TRUST STUDENTS TO USE IT RESPONSIBLY WITH WRITING? INSTEAD OF BANNING IT, WE SHOULD BE TEACHING PEOPLE HOW TO USE IT WELL, HOW TO STAY
QUESTION IT, HOW TO WORK WITH IT, HOW TO STAY
CREATIVE EVEN WHEN IT'S EASIER TO LET AI TAKE OVER.

WOULD JOBS BE TAKEN AWAY ?

And about jobs – yeah, people are right to be worried. It's not some distant future problem.

It's happening now.

Writers, designers,

customer service

workers, even

programmers are seeing their jobs change or disappear. Companies

love to say, “AI makes us faster and cheaper!”

but they don't talk about what we lose when we replace humans with machines: creativity,

empathy, uniqueness.

Fast and cheap isn't always better.

WILL AI TAKEAWAY OUR REALNESS?

Honestly, what scares me the most isn't that AI will wipe us out. It's that if we are not careful, it'll slowly drain the realness out of everything and I mean, our writing, our art, our conversations — and we won't even notice until it's too late.
